

A COOL DRINK OF WATER

BARBARA KERLEY

Through gorgeous pictures and short but compelling words, this book examines the way water is viewed and drank in different parts of the world. Students will learn about the ways that getting water can be easier or more difficult, the ways that people use and consume water, and the countries they see in all the book's stunning photographs.

Questions:

1. Talk about each picture- how would you feel drinking the water in that situation?
2. Why do all those people want to drink water?
3. Why do they use different kinds of containers?
4. Why do so many people in different people from different places carry the water containers on their heads? What parts of your body would hurt while carrying water on your head?
5. AT THE BACK OF THE BOOK: Read about each of the pictures and the places that they were taken. What would it be like to live in each of those places?
