

EARTH SUNCATCHER

Lesson of the Day:

Sometimes we have to take care of others, even if usually it's their job to take care of us. If our moms and dads are having a bad day, it's harder for them to take care of us. So we should help everyone around us, and be grateful for those who help us! Say thank you to your parents, teachers, and everyone else who helps you every day!

Materials:

- Green tissue paper
- Blue tissue paper
- Black construction paper
- Contact paper
- Scissors

Instructions:

1. Discuss the lesson of the day with your students. Talk about what it means to them.
2. Have each student cut out a circle outline.
3. Give each student a large piece of contact paper. Have them place the circle outline on the sticky side of the contact paper.
4. Have students put small squares of tissue paper onto the contact paper inside of the circle. Have them try to do it in the shape of the ocean and land.
5. Place another piece of contact paper over the top when they are finished. Have them cut around the edge of the Earth they've made.
