

GROUNDHOG ILLUSION

Lesson of the Day:

Changing the way you look at something can completely change what you see! Always try to see the positive side when you can! It's all about the way you look at things and remember- just because something seems one way from your perspective doesn't mean that everyone sees it the same way.

Materials:

- Template
- Markers

Instructions:

1. Discuss the lesson of the day with your students. Talk about what it means to them.
2. Have the students color the groundhogs on the picture.
3. Help students fold the page accordion style as accurately as possible.
4. Have them look at the picture from both angles and see that there are two different ways to see it. What you see all depends on the angle you're looking at it from!
