

HANDPRINT WINTER BIRDS

Lesson of the Day:

Are there a lot of birds around in the winter time? Why not? Just like birds need a warm environment, people need a warm environment as well. They need people around them who show them love and care so that their heart will be warm and comforted. Make sure to be kind and help build a classroom, a home, a world where everyone feels safe and taken care of.

Materials:

- Blue construction paper
- Red paint
- Brown paint
- White paint
- Orange paint
- Black paint
- Snowflake Stickers

Instructions:

1. Discuss the lesson of the day with your students. Talk about what it means to them.
2. Have students paint their hands with red paint and put two handprints on the paper with their fingers together. Have them paint a brown branch below each handprint.
3. Have students add white paint to the branches as snow.
4. Have students add an orange feet and a beak and one black eye.
5. Students can decorate with snowflakes and other little details.
