

PAPER PLATE ICE CREAM

Lesson of the Day:

Nothing makes you feel better on a hot summer day than a yummy ice cream cone! What makes you feel better and helps you cool off when you're angry? Talking to a friend? Drawing a picture? Writing about it in your journal? Getting a hug? Watching TV? Everyone calms down in different ways just like everyone likes their ice cream different ways. Find what cools down your anger best!

Materials:

- Small paper plate
- Markers
- Red puffball
- Brown paper
- Glue
- Decorations

Instructions:

1. Discuss the lesson of the day with your students. Talk about what it means to them.
2. Have students draw an ice cream cone pattern on a brown construction paper triangle. Cut out the triangle.
3. Color the paper plate an ice cream color.
4. Glue the cone to the ice cream.
5. Add decoration like sequins, jewels, sprinkles, confetti, glitter, or just dots of other colors of marker.
6. Glue a red puffball cherry to the top!
